I am a member of Blackpool club casino. Within the last 3 weeks i have deposited £1420, and my balance now stands at £1644 so i have made a little profit, i now want to withdraw my £1644 but the casino is saying that i have to meet the wagering requirements first. They tell me that the requirement is that i bet a further £34560!!! before being allowed to make ANY withdraw.. .

this cant be right... can it.

any help appreciated.
Stu.

Hi

Had a little look and it says you have to wager your bonus and deposit 15 times before you can withdraw so £1420 x 15 = £21,300, but you may have made multi depositions and be roped into a load of other little conditions.

If they say you need to wager £34,560 then that's what you will have to do. I'm afraid, I checked and basically only bets on slots count towards your wager so you will have to bet £34,560 on slots.

Good luck, hope you win big!

Basically, wagering requirements depend on the casino site you were getting involved with. That is why, it is better to research for some trustworthy casino sites before you make any deals with them. Look if it's a reliable casino to play. You need to do things like this or you might regret it when it is already too late.
