Hi ya all , yes it's me the boogey man but nothing to fear i come i peace this time. Actually i'm find myself posting to see if one of you can provide me with some info. I like playing craps at the casino but the nearest one is about 5 hours back forth, and it is specially frustrating coming back from a long ride having lost most of your money. I 've thinking about playing online however i have my misgiving about the whole idea of playing on the internet . I 've been checking out some online casinos site like <http://casino-craps-odds.com/> just to get familiar, you can never be to careful specially with all the scams going on on net. If you guys can share with me some tips into how to spot a fake online casino site please let me know so that i can avoid them.
